OHIO CANNERS HERE TO PLAN PART IN NRA

Members of State Association Consider Increased Price To Farmers.

642 NAMES ON LIST HERE

Marion Auto Dealers Meet To Consider National Code.

While local employers continued their march toward NRA cooperation today, Marion was the meeting place for 25 members of the Ohio Canners association, discussing proposed increased payments to tomato growers as a phase of the recovery program.

The association officers and members met in Hotel Harding for morning and afternoon session and luncheon. O. L. Teagarden of Oak Harbor, O., president, was in charge, assisted by Roy Irons of Clyde, secretary.

642 Comply Here

Meanwhile, 34 Marion employers filed certificates of compliance at the postoffice this morning, making a total of 642 so far who have indicated their cooperation with NRA. The postoffice's supply of blue eagles, and other NRA supplies was exhausted yesterday afternoon but was replenished this morning with the arrival of 75 sets of emblems.

Discussion of the proposed national code for automobile dealers was the subject before a luncheon meeting of the Marion Automobile Dealers' association in Hotel Marion this noon.

In Galion, the American Legion post moved to aid in registering all unemployed persons. A move was launched in Mt. Gilead to bring about unanimous agreement among Morrow county merchants on opening and closing hours.

Want Price Increased

Ohio canners, in common with those in many other states, have been asked by the government to increase by 25 per cent their payments to farmers who grow tomatoes for them by contract, Mr. Teagarden said, in explaining the meeting here.

Names of 34 Marion employers, who this morning signified their cooperation with the NRA program, appear today on page 2.

The canners in turn have been assured, he said, that they may adjust their prices to absorb some of the increased cost. Through countrywide adoption of this plan, Teagarden said, the government hopes to increase the farmers' purchasing power and stabilize prices.

Teagarden said canners in a number of other states, including Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland, have agreed to the government's request. The Ohio association, he said, probably will reach a decision on the request today.

NRA Adds 3,000 Cleveland Workers

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15—Approximately 90 Cleveland firms have reported they have added 3,090 workers since joining the President's re-employment campaign, Miss Mary E. Woods, Ohio NRA director, announced today. The companies employed 24,730 persons before signing the NRA code and the increase in the number of their workers was 12.5 per cent.

Approval of the public utility code, Miss Woods said, will bring several large organizations into the NRA. The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. was expected to sign today and Anson F. Hardman, vice-president, said operation of the code would add between 5,000 and 6,000 workers at an annual wage of between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000 to the

Gunman, 9 Others Held by U. S. in Kidnaping

Harvey Bailey Captured; Charged With Urschel Abduction.

CALLED GANG HEAD

Blamed for Rail Station Massacre; Faces Life Sentence.

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 15 — The federal government's challenge to the crime world's master minds held a new meaning today with jail bars framing the faces of Harvey Bailey, one of the nation's most desperate gunmen, and nine other persons arrested in three states.

"They'll never take me alive," Bailey once boasted. But when he was aroused from sleep to look up into a machine gun, he changed his mind, and remarked:

"Well, it looks like it's just too bad, doesn't it?"

The machine gun slaying of four officers and their prisoner at Kansas City June 17 and the ransom kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel at Oklahoma City, July 22 are only a few of the crimes charged up to Bailey by authorities. Ransom for Urschel has been reported as high as $200,000.

Eleven Face Charges

Charges have been filed, at Oklahoma City, against 11 persons in connection with the kidnaping of the oil millionaire. They were filed under a federal law which provides for a life sentence. Federal officials withheld the names of those charged, but it was understood they included Bailey; Albert L. Bates, under arrest in Denver and identified by the department of justice as George Bates, a suspect in the Urschel case; and George Kelly, still at large.

In St. Paul, Werner Hanni, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said that Sam J. Kronick, Charles Wolk, William Nelson and Sam Kozberg, under arrest there, will be charge with conspiracy in the Urschel case.

Four of five persons arrested with Bailey were held. They were Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, a son, Armond and his wife, Mrs. Ojeta Shannon. The fifth person, Earl Brown, was released.

At Washington, William Stanley, assistant to the attorney general, putting before the nation the fact of the government's decisive, smashing cleanup of the Urschel kidnaping and the Kansas City massacre, pointed out that the Urschel case

Break in Air Service Leads To Capture

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 15—A storm, sufficient in intensity to force an American Airways pilot from his course, brought about the capture of Harvey Bailey and the discovery of the "prison" where Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was held while his abductors negotiated for ransom.

Urschel reported to department of justice agents an airplane regularly passed over the house at 9:15 a. m. and 5:45 p. m. daily, except one Sunday morning. He noted the date he failed to hear the plane.

Agents checked all airlines whose pilots flew regularly through the southwest. The check narrowed to the American Airways. Pilots' logs and weather charts during the period of Urschel's nine-day captivity —July 23 to July 31—were closely scanned. They discovered that one pilot, on a Sunday morning had swerved his course to miss a storm.

The pilot was asked to plot the course he took away from his usual route. The agents took the arc he made and completed a circle, then took to the air to search that area. They spotted the hide-out, aided by descriptions of the place as given by the oil operator. The capture followed.

REPORT CAPONE OUT OF PRISON

Gangster Said To Be Enroute To Chicago To Face New Charges.

PEN OFFICIALS SILENT

Prison Superintendent, However, Insists Hoodlum Still In Atlanta.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 15—Al Capone was reported at police headquarters today to be enroute from federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., to the Illinois state prison at Joliet, to be held there pending trial in Chicago on charges of racket conspiracy.

The report came as federal and state authorities were preparing to go before Chief Justice John L. Prystalski of criminal court and ask for a habeas corpus writ to return Capone here. He has been indicted with 23 others on charges of restraint of trade through racketeering on legitimate business.

Police reports, on which officials declined to comment, were to the effect that the writ would be issued within an hour and that Capone had been taken from the federal prison late yesterday to expedite his arrival here.

Full Force Maintained

All detective squads were ordered to remain on duty both day and night at detective headquarters. Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker and two squad cars of detectives armed with machine-guns and riot equipment left headquarters, supposedly for Joliet.

Legal authorities said Capone and his co-defendants could be arraigned at any time on the conspiracy charges. A short delay probably would be granted, during which Capone would remain in the state penitentiary or the Cook county jail, they said, and then the trial could be begun.

Capone has been sentenced to 11 years in the federal prison for evasion of income tax.

At the Atlanta penitentiary, Warden Aderholt said he "knew nothing about" the report. United States Attorney Johnson at Atlanta said: "I won't be quoted." Federal officials have assumed that attitude regarding Atlanta prisoners for some time.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green at Chicago declined to be quoted on the matter, as did Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer, in charge of prosecution of the racket conspiracy indictments.

Police Commissioner James Allman of Chicago also declined to comment.

Superintendent Doubts That Al Has Left

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Superintendent of Federal Prisons Sanford Bates said today that Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, was still in the Atlanta federal penitentiary as far as he knew.

Bates said that when the question of whether Capone would be taken to Illinois to stand trial first came up he instructed the warden of the Atlanta prison to notify him immediately of the serving of any court writ calling for Capone's presence in Illinois.

He added the warden had been instructed also to notify the prison bureau headquarters here before permitting Capone to leave the prison.

Because of these detailed instructions, Bates added, he felt certain Capone was still in Atlanta.

The justice department said later a request that Capone be transferred to Chicago to stand trial on state indictments growing out of the racketeering investigation had been received by the criminal division.

They're in a rocking-chair marathon, helping celebrate the one hundredth birthday anniversary of this Preble county town.

TWO ACCUSED OF ILLEGAL BEER SALE

Men Held At Carey Alleged to Have No License; Slot Machines Seized.

Special to The Star

CAREY, Aug. 15—Charged with operating slot machines within the Carey corporation limits, Albert Azzar and Charles Rossie of Fostoria also face either the payment of a heavy fine for selling beer without a legal license, or quitting the beer business.

The two men were arrested last night by local authorities led by Deputy Sheriff Fred Jonas of Upper Sandusky, and taken before Mayor S. H. Krebs, where the charge was made against them. A hearing, set for last night, has been postponed until Wednesday, and the two men are out on bond.

The arrests were made after authorities raided a tent in which the men were selling beer, opposite the Carey Waterworks park. Five slot machines were seized. Suspicious of the beer selling license, authorities telephoned the state beer commission and learned that the license had been issued for a one-day lodge picnic some time ago. Two men from the commission were sent here and made an investigation.

Authorities believe that the men were attracted here this week by the throngs that are seeking a pilgrimage to the famous shrine of Our Lady of Consolation.

CUBA SEEKING CURE FOR ILLS

New Government After Solutions To Problems Brought on By Rebellion.

APPEALS FOR COOPERATION

President Asks Unity While He and Cabinet Work Out Recovery Plans.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Aug. 15—A new Cuban government set out today to find solutions for problems inherited from the upheaval that brought the overthrow of the Machado regime.

In the harbor, as a steadying influence, the American destroyer Taylor rode at anchor. The U. S. navy cruiser Richmond was enroute through the Panama canal to the Atlantic side to await orders.

The destroyer Hamilton was expected to arrive at Manzanillo today, but confidence in the return to normalcy was seen in the recall of the destroyer Claxton.

Dr. Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, provisional president, gathered about him a young and inexperienced cabinet to cope with the political and economic troubles growing out of a widespread strike, now ending, and disorders attending last Saturday's revolution.

Voices Plea for Cooperation

They and the whole republic were asked by Dr. De Cespedes in his inaugural address to cooperate in recovery. He asked for unity so that "no one may doubt the future, our democracy's capacity for self government."

Soldiers and squads of A B C opposition members continued to seek out and kill, or imprison for trial men of former President Gerardo Machado's strong arm squad, the Porristas, who are charged with slaying political opponents in an effort to maintain the Machado dictatorship by force.

The popular temper against remains of the deposed government, however, cooled considerably. At least 18 members of the porra have been slain in the last three days. A score have been wounded. Military authorities estimated at least 12 were in prison.

Machado Leaders Disappear

Leaders of the Machado regime were in hiding, had fled, or were preparing for flight.

The gunboat Cuba arrived here last night and it was expected that United States Ambassador Sumner Welles and army officers would escort what followers there are remaining on the vessel.

Parades and other demonstrations were [illegible] under a military edict issued to stop looting, arson and bloodshed.

5 ALTERNATIVE PLANS DRAWN FOR ASSEMBLY

Will Be Submitted by Governor At Special Session Tomorrow.

SALES TAX INCLUDED

Also Utilities Excise Levy; Would Reduce Beer Assessment.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15—Five alternative taxation programs involving a general retail sales levy, selective sales, additional admission and cosmetic taxes, a reduced beer levy, utility excise taxes, and bond issues based upon these taxes and real estate will be submitted to the special legislative session tomorrow by Governor George White.

The governor did not include an earned income tax in his alternative programs as had been anticipated. He said he had excluded such a tax "at the last minute" because of the present levy on incomes collected through the intangible tax.

Would Cut Beer Tax

The governor's proposed beer tax is for reduction of the present two-cent cap tax on bottled beer to one-half cent. It would be broadened to include all bottled beverages. The present $1 barrel tax on beer also would be eliminated. The tax on barrel beer would be fixed definitely at $1.50 a 31 gallon barrel.

Then general retail sales tax as proposed by the governor would be placed at 2 per cent from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31 this year, and one per cent for next year until Sept. 1, when it would automatically expire.

All five programs, which are interwoven, with exception of the retail sales tax, which is supposed to stand alone would raise approximately $10,000,000 for the remainder of this year, and the same amount for next year.

Would Change Admission Tax

The proposed admission tax would be amended to lower the exemption from 40 cents to 10 cents for an estimated yearly yield of $3,000,000.

Toilet soaps would be added to the present list of cosmetics which are taxed at 8½ per cent for a total of all cosmetic taxes of $2,000,000 a year.

The proposed beverage tax of one-half cent and $1.50 on barrel beer is estimated to yield $4,000,000 annually.

The proposed utility tax of three per cent on gross earnings of gas and telephone companies, is estimated to yield $3,000,000 and to be levied for five years to finance a bond issue of $12,600,000. The bonds would be issued by the counties the same as the original one-cent utility tax for poor relief.

In Selective List

The proposed selective sales levies would include furs, jewelry, cosmetics, phonographs, radios, musical instruments, refrigerators, sporting goods, fire arms, shells and cartridges, cameras, beverages (other than those taxed under the bottle tax), lubricating oils and greases and safety deposit boxes.

These proposed selective sales taxes, including admissions and the bottle cap tax are estimated to yield $17,700,000 a year.

The following yields are estimated from the various proposed selective sales taxes: furs, $700,000; jewelry, $1,000,000; cosmetics, $2,000,000; radios and musical instruments, $1,400,000; refrigerators, $1,000,000; sporting goods, $800,000; fire arms and cameras, $200,000; beverages, $2,000,000; lubricants, $2,000,000, and safe deposit boxes, $100,000.

3 FARM STRUCTURES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Morrow County Property of K. E. Farmer, Scene of Costly Blaze.

Special to The Star

MARENGO, Aug. 15—Two farm houses and a garage owned by K. E. Farmer, inspector for the division of feed and fertilizer of the state department of agriculture, were destroyed by fire last night about midnight. The farm on which Mr. Farmer's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Farmer, make their home is six miles east of here.

An estimate of the damage had not been made today, but the properties were insured, officials said.

The K. E. Farmer home, a large establishment recently remodeled, was destroyed, but the furniture was saved. The smaller house, about 25 feet away, was destroyed and nothing was saved.

CITY SCHOOL POSTS FILLED

Board of Education Makes Appointments for Coming Term.

YEAR'S BUDGET DISCUSSED

Sup't. Bowman Cites Revenue Reductions Necessitating Economy in Operation.

Twenty janitors, four office assistants, a librarian and a superintendent of janitors were reemployed for the next year by the city board of education at its monthly meeting last night in the office of George A. Bowman, city school superintendent.

Reductions of from five to six per cent were ordered in the salaries of all those reemployed. A savings of nearly $1,300 a year will result, board members said.

The board also gave formal approval to the school budget for the fiscal year 1934, providing $340,949, compared to $435,000 in 1929, the peak year and $365,892 for 1933.

Cites Reductions

Mr. Bowman pointed out the reductions made in school levies, representing a nearly 25 per cent reduction in the local levy which for next year will be $235,499 or $110,000 less than the local property tax for school purposes of $345,000 in 1929.

In addition to the $235,499 from local levies Mr. Bowman said revenue of $65,000 is expected from the state aid fund and $16,700 from non-revenue sources, such as depository interest, tuition fees from other school districts and state aid for various causes.

Miss Etta Jacoby was rehired as librarian at Harding High school a post she has held for many years. The office assistants reemployed are Misses Elizabeth Pace, Bernita LeMasters, Helen Richardson and Mayo Gibson. They will serve in the offices of the scuperintendent and the principal of Harding High school and the Central Junior High school.

Permission Granted

The board also gave permission to the Ohio State university extension department for the use of a classroom in Harding High school for a class in money and banking, to start Oct. 4. The course will consist of weekly lessons for approximately 12 weeks, meeting each Monday night.

Pearl Sells was rehired as superintendent of buildings and janitors. The 20 janitors reemployed, none of whom have been assigned to buildings for the next school year, are John Caldwell, Oscar Noe, F. S. Weiser, John Thibaut, H. H. Brady, Roy McCombs, C. B. Shetterly, Isaac McCombs, S. V. Millisor, James Peacock, Charles Clark, John Criswell, W. H. Baker, John Brunner, William Wetterauer, Davids Streets, A. A. Gibbens, W. E. Barnhill, Arthur Watts and Harvey Long.

Definite assignment will not be made, board members decided, until it is determined what changes will be made in the janitor line-up by the closing of the North State street building.

GUNMAN, 9 OTHERS HELD IN KIDNAPING

was the first in which the victim's family had notified the federal government. He said three confessions to the Urschel abduction had come from those under arrest.

Get Speedy Results

"Thus," he said, "within the course of only a few weeks after the perpetration of two of the most startling and dastardly crimes in the annals of American history, the law enforcement arm of the department of justice has reached out and captured the parties responsible for these outrages."

Invoking, then, the might of the government, he appealed to the people to come to it for aid.

Attorney General Cummings expressed belief that Bailey, an escaped Kansas penitentiary convict, was the leader of one of the country's most dangerous criminal gangs.

Cummings said Bailey had been identified as an operator of a machine gun in the slayings at Kansas City. The slaughter resulted when gangsters attempted to free Frank Nash, fugitive convict, while he was being returned to prison, only to kill him accidentally in the hail of bullets that mowed down four officers, including an agent of the department of justice.

POLICE HOLD MAN FOR INVESTIGATION

"King" Cole in Jail After Crashing Y's Men's Dinner.

Sam "King" Cole, 45, giving his home as Baltimore, Md., arrested last night at the Marion Y. M. C. A. just as he concluded a telephone conversation with police headquarters, was being held in the county jail today pending an investigation into his mental condition.

The man, who told police he was "King" Cole, eluded police early last night when a flat tire delayed the officers as they were pursuing him in the vicinity of Hotel Harding.

Later, he went to the Y, called the police department and asked why they had been chasing him. While one officer held him in conversation, another traced the call and rushing to the Y, greeted Cole in person as he turned away from the telephone.

Police said numerous complaints have been received in the last several days about Cole's conduct. He is said to have invaded the Y's Men's club dinner last night in Hotel Harding and to have made a speech during the dinner.

Cole came here Saturday from Upper Sandusky.

Attention Centers on Steel, Oil Trades

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 — Recovery's blue eagle stretched its talons today toward steel's and oil's myriad workers.

Fresh from an exchange of views with President Roosevelt, Hugh S. Johnson gave personal attention to the proposed oil code embracing hours, pay and regulations for a labrynthian network of 365,000 marketing units. The industrial administrator was making up his own mind prior to stating it to the industry's spokesmen tomorrow.

Simultaneously his deputy, K. A. Simpson, called in steel's representatives—including A. W. Irvin, president of the United States Steel corporation—for conferences which he regarded as certain to produce a fair competition code before Labor day.

All the while, the blue eagle's agents fastened inquiring eyes on Pennsylvania's troubled coal regions with Simpson forecasting "something quite interesting on coal before the week-end."

Plan Countywide Organization

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 15—At a meeting of the Mt. Gilead NRA and Merchants' association last night at the Globe hotel a movement was launched to enlarge the scope of the organization to include the entire county with merchants in all towns participating. Those proposing the countywide organization seek cooperation in fixing minimum wages and maximum working hours as well as in the hours the business houses are to remain open.

At a previous meeting members here agreed to close their stores at 6 p. m. except on Wednesdays when they will be open until 9 o'clock and on Saturdays when they will remain open until 11 p. m. The schedule includes groceries, hardware stores, meat markets, and miscellaneous retail stores and went into effect Monday.

Joe Ward, president, set Tuesday, Aug. 22, as the date for the next meeting when an advisory council of four men will be elected to work with the officers in carrying out the objectives of the organization. Retailers in other towns in the county will be invited to attend this meeting.

The local organization may take over the free Saturday night entertainments previously arranged for by a Kiwanis committee. No action was taken Monday night on the proposed change.

CLEVELAND STRIKE AT VIRTUAL HALT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 15—The three-week strike of 1,500 Cleveland garment workers came to a virtual halt today. Abraham Katovsky, manager of the union joint board, and Arthur Korach, manufacturers' spokesman, announced the signing of a temporary agreement by eight manufacturers. Katovsky said three other firms would sign today but that picketing of the Bloomfield company, which declined the agreement, would continue.

The agreement, which is to run until an NRA code for the dress industry is adopted, calls for a wage increase of 15 per cent for "inside" work and 25 per cent for those employed in contract shops.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15 — Paul Maxim, the 25-year-old fugitive from Mansfield state reformatory who recently was returned from Chicago, where he had become an advertising executive, will appear this afternoon before Governor George White when he is expected to receive an executive pardon.

Governor White said the state board of paroles and pardons had reported to him that it had no objections to a pardon for Maxim but that he wanted him to appear for "a personal talk."

The chief executive said there were a few things he wanted to clear up about Maxim's attitude about certain matters" and if he answers these satisfactorily he probably will be given a pardon.

CLEVELAND POLICE PROBE BOMBINGS

One Damages Suburban Building, Another Found in City.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 15—Within a few hours after a dynamite bomb blew out the rear wall of a commercial apartment block in suburban Parma early today, a second bomb was found unexploded in the heart of the downtown business district here.

The second bomb, a home-made affair, was found by Albert Stout in the doorway of the Aldrich Howey company, short distance from Cleveland's public square. Police immediately began an investigation.

Two men, a woman and two children were thrown from their beds by the Parma explosion, but were not injured. Windows in nearby houses were shattered.

C. W. Aldrich, president of the Aldrich-Howley company, furniture retailers, could not give police a motive for the attempt against his concern.

The bomb's nine foot, five inch fuse had been lighted, but had burned only a half-inch. Two and three-quarters pounds of dynamite were found in the bomb, police said.

Police Chief Garry Burcyzyk of Parma said he believed the bombing was the result of labor disputes. The building is owned by Frank Mural, 35, a contractor who employs non-union labor.

ELECTION ON STATE LEGION PROGRAM

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Aug. 15—Politics held the convention of the Ohio department of the American Legion today as supporters of various candidates laid claim to victory. Meanwhile, resolutions dealings with veterans' relief were drafted.

One of these was expected to concern itself with Frank D. Hines, administrator of the United States veterans' bureau. A charge that Hines gave a "wrong impression" unfavorable to the veterans program for relief in reporting recently on the estimated cost of a legion-sponsored proposal for care of disabled veterans was made to the convention by J. E. Ringley, commander of the Illinois department.

T. W. McCaw of Dennison and W. A. Burlingame of Cincinnati were the leading candidates for state commander.

BROTHERS PAY WITH LIVES FOR SLAYING

Ohioans Assail Capital Punishment Before Execution at Columbus Pen.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., Aug. 15—Two young Negro brothers, one protesting he was innocent, the other with the hope he would be "the last to have such a repugnant fate," were executed at the Ohio penitentiary last night for the murder of a bank cashier.

The two, James Murphy, 25, and Joseph Murphy, 18, were electrocuted for slaying, Oct. 8, 1932, Harry Friedhoff, cashier of a bank at Silverton, O., during a robbery. A third brother, Ben, also was convicted of a similar charge and is serving a life sentence.

Joseph, the first of the pair to be executed, assailed capital punishment in a statement just before he went to his death. He scored the "states unwarranted aggressiveness in exacting justice."

James, after entering the death chamber, asked for Prosecutor Robert N. Gorman of Hamilton county, but upon being told Gorman was not present, recognized Charles Rentrop, Cincinnati newspaperman, and to him said: "You were at my trial. I want to tell you that I'm innocent in this case. The only thing that put me into the electric chair was my black face. They're not hurting me. They're only hurting my mother."

Both the Negroes had embraced the Catholic faith during their stay in death row and were attended during their last moments by two priests.

HAY FEVER

We never have recommended the use of Salicon for Hay Fever in our circulars and labels. Nevertheless each season for years we have received a number of letters from persons who have tried Salicon for Hay Fever and who have been benefited or relieved.

Some have suggested that we should tell the public about it—but we have hesitated to do so because we know of some cases where it has been tried without giving any relief whatever.

There is no known specific for Hay Fever—each sufferer seems to have his own method or means of getting such relief as he can.

If you have Hay Fever and have found no relief—it might be well to try Salicon. It won't hurt you and judging from what some have said there is a possibility it may help you.

11 HELD IN POLICE INVESTIGATION HERE

Four Persons from Mt. Gilead and Seven from City Under Arrest.

Eleven Negroes, four of them from Mt. Gilead and seven from Marion, were being questioned today by police and sheriff's deputies in connection with alleged cigaret thefts.

The Marion Negroes, three of them women, were arrested yesterday afternoon and last night as city and county authorities made two visits to West Marion.

Officials arrested the Mt. Gilead Negroes early Monday morning near the Marion County home on the Claridon pike following complaints from neighbors that they were creating a disturbance. Their car had run out of gasoline, officials said.

A quantity of cigarets bearing Kroger store stamps was found in the car, officials said, and are believed by authorities to have been stolen.

Police said there possibly is a connection between the supposedly stolen cigarets and the recent sale here of a quantity of contraband cigarets.

Clever Swiss

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 15—Course I could talk about "Our Warships Going to Cuba," "Our Foreign Trade Picking Up," "Sixteen Nations Bought More," "President of France Knocked Down by a Bicycle." That's not as bad as me the night I landed in Yokohoma, Japan, and got run over by a rickshaw.

But the real bit of news, was some ingenious Swiss from Switzerland. He wanted to smuggle some Swiss watches into Spain. So this old "yodler" drove a bunch of geese afoot from Switzerland clear across France to Spain and he had the watches tied under the geeses' wings. Think what a fellow could bring into this country, if he had himself a good bunch of trained whales.

Biggest Catch of Season Reported by Marion Angler

The fish was landed at Claypool's bridge southeast of Marion, and was one of three in the morning's catch. Retterer is an enthusiastic and rather successful fisherman. Two years ago he returned from a fishing trip with a catch weighing 12 pounds, the largest fish weighing about two and one-half pounds.

Sunday's prize was the piece de resistance for the noonday meal at the Retterer home Monday.

Clowns Perform Prominent Part in Dill Circus

Clowns are not only the delight of children, but their elders as well, for one seldom grows too old to enjoy the pranks and antics of these funmakers of the white tops, and Sam B. Dill's circus has three score of these merry jesters of the saw-dust, all of whom will be seen when the show exhibits in Marion Thursday afternoon and night of this week.

Jimmy Thomas, one of the producing clowns with the Dill show, is reported to have originated more stunts to cause hilarity all around the track than any man in the business.

Another famous clown with Dill's circus is Georgie Jennier, a noted French pantomimist, who with his dog, "Myth," causes much merriment in his "walk-arounds."

Among other well kown "Joeys" are Napoleon Reed, Fred Wilson, Henry Barth, Pewee, Stanley Blake, Herman Twins, Midgets and Sig Bon Amme.

Dill's cricus, its owners announce, is one of the largest giving a street parade.

PUZZLING POINTS OF TAX ARE CLARIFIED

County Auditor Receives Information Concerning State Cosmetic Levy.

Many puzzling points regarding the cosmetic excise tax are cleared up in a bulletin issued by the state tax commission, a copy of which has been received by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

The bulletin says the 10 per cent tax shall be levied on the established retail value of the product. A special sale does not affect the taxable price.

Where the product is in a container having a special value of its own, such a compact with a filler than can be replaced, or a cut glass bottle containing perfume, it is taxable according to the usual price of the filler or perfume in an ordinary bottle.

Stamps must be affixed as soon as the cosmetics are received in the place of business. However, if the cosmetics are received in the place of business. However, if the cosmetics are placed in a storeroom apart from the business room, it is not necessary for affix the stamps until the product is placed in the business room.

If a retail agent does business in more than one county, he must obtain a license in each county.

TWO PARTICIPANTS IN FIGHT FINED

An alleged fight between a man and a woman Saturday night was the cause for two fines of $15 each in municipal court yesterday.

The participants in the fight, officials charge, were Buss Everly, 23, of 355 Waterloo street, and Mabel Colvin, 31, of 431 Toledo avenue. They were charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. Everly was also fined the costs in his case and was committed to the county jail. The woman paid her fine and was freed of the costs.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, Aug. 16.

A rather lively and interesting day with much stirring in both business and private affairs is foretokened by the astral directions for the day. A particularly active and pleasant state of affairs may be looked for in social, domestic or romantic associations. There may be, indeed, a tendency to be lavish, indulgent or extravagant in these, so that finances may be jeopardized.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly lively and interesting year in both business and private life. The latter is quite likely to be uppermost in the activities, with strong leanings to social, domestic or affectional engagements.

A child born on this day should be lively, versatile, proud, ambitious and sensitive, probably succeeding best with strangers.

Notable nativity: Henry Kirk, author.

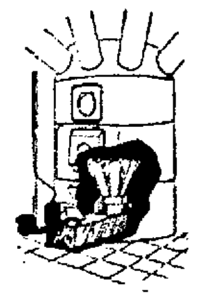
All Expenses Considered... Gas Heat Costs No More

Homes Using the Modern Fuel, Gas, Eliminate Many Incidental Bills

When making home heating plans for next Fall and Winter, many items in addition to actual cost of the fuel should be considered. What incidental expenses will be added to the original cost of the fuel? Will fuel dust, ashes and soot result in heavy cleaning expense in the home? Must the fuel be handled? Must ashes be removed? Will furnace tending be necessary? Will uneven temperatures result in colds and other ailments, causing additional medical expense?



Janitrol, a complete gas-fired heating unit, fits into your present furnace and furnishes clean, healthful, automatic gas heat. Easily installed. Convenient terms.

A Moore's Circulating Gas Heater is ideal for homes without central heating plants; also for heating one or more rooms. See the new attractive models.

Incidental Costs Are Important Items!

Cleaning, fuel handling, removal of ashes, furnace tending and colds involve much time and expense — not to mention discomfort and inconvenience. Their cost in time and money should be taken into consideration when figuring the cost of home heating.

Homes using gas heat reduce cleaning expense to a minimum — they eliminate ashes, smoke and soot — they are bothered by no furnace tending and by no handling of fuel — they enjoy constant, healthful temperature — there is less need to be doctoring colds and kindred ills. And when the cost of clean, healthful gas heat is compared to the cost of other heating methods, with their many important incidental expenses, it is found that it [illegible] to heat with gas. Brothers.

The apparently effective termination of a state of revolution in Cuba by the army's refusal to support Gerardo Machado illustrates the potency of the military branch in unsettled republics. It is taken for granted that the army is the tool of a monarch, and history is filled with instances of its use to suppress popular movements. The president of a republic who depends on the army to maintain his power takes a gamble, however. Soldiers cannot discern much difference between serving one president or another, unless they have been corrupted to an extraordinary extent. They are, consequently, much more receptive to the wishes of the people.

Machado has been able to depend heavily on the army in the past. Apparently, he was confident of his ability to continue that dependence in a situation wherein a majority of the people plainly were opposed to continuance of his regime. No one better than he, reared in the traditions of Cuban politics, how much depended on the support of the men who possessed guns and the organization to make them effective. Significantly, military leaders showed by their actions that they, too, were fully conscious of their power.

By their pronouncements and actions, they tried to persuade the people after they had refused to support the administration that their sympathy was with the masses. They had deserted Machado because they realize that supporting him entailed setting brother against brother in a setting of bloodshed. That they were unwilling to do. They proved, in short, that under a republican form of government the military branch's ultimate duty is to respond to the popular wish

Remembering what has happened in other times when soldiers were puppets of destruction jerked by kings, this illustrates once more an important advance in the march of progress. It directs attention, also, to the importance of a high grade of intelligence among military men, a grade of intelligence which testifies to their importance in the scheme of popular government.

Just for Fun.

Several intemperate outbursts of humor over the solemn manner in which Japan conducted three days of war games bespeak a remarkable ability on the part of certain Americans to forget their own government's war games. It is to be hoped that Japanese funny men get just as tickled reading about United States fleet maneuvers in the Pacific as their Yankee brethren did when they heard the mock raid on Tokyo.

It stands vividly in memory that when the fleet assembled in the Pacific the last time to simulate conditions of attack and defense the matter was taken pretty seriously. Ships burned up thousands of dollars' worth of fuel. Fortunes were exploded in gunfire. Aviators risked their necks and equipment to outdo the sythical enemy.

On land, the maneuvers were watched from day to day with serious attention. Presumably, admirals still are at work checking over the score cards to see whether or not the enemy that may some day come sailing eastward over the Pacific really could conquer the defenders who are stationed along that strategic coast.

If war games taken too seriously appear ludicrous, it is an universal fault. Occasionally, extraordinary heights of humor are reached, as in the case of disarmed Germans popping at cardboard airplanes jerked along on a high wire and drilling endlessly with dummy guns. When it comes down to any real value from playing war, the most critical must concede that the Japanese, by reproducing as nearly as possible for residents of Tokyo the conditions of a night air-attack, came closest to doing something worth while.

They showed the people what it would be like to be besieged in a city if an enemy were to attack. In contrast to the American method, the play was brought home to that part of the audience which feels the greatest need for assurance. True, Japanese are not noted for a sense of humor, but in their serious way they were no funnier without trying than other nations which are supposed to be able to detect the funny side.

Map Makers.

The explorations of the Lindberghs north of the Arctic circle and their discovery of a high mountain and a 100-mile fjord in Greenland give substance to a hope that observers in airplanes may be able to fill in many obscure parts of man's knowledge of his world. Comparatively little is known of the regions surrounding the poles. While human beings were restricted to what observations they could make from the ground, there was scant chance of finding out much more.

The airplane in capable hands can challenge ice and sub-zero temperatures more successfully than those obstacles ever were threatened by explorers creeping over dangerous surfaces on foot. The Byrd expedition to the south pole was a hint of what is possible. The flights of the Lindberghs, planned to disclose possibilities of establishing practical air communication over Greenland, are discovering hitherto unknown secrets of the far north.

In this generation, such expeditions will continue to appear for the most part as adventures reserved for the very brave rather than for the very practical. Despite the commercial objectives of the Lindbergh explorations, it is felt that they are years ahead of their time. What they find will be of use chiefly to map makers and of interest chiefly to those who delight themselves in wondering what actually lies in those regions where vague outlines and vast territories bearing the names of monarchs and explorers excite curiosity.

Yet, it cannot be considered impossible that the human race may some day be as accustomed to these as yet unknown regions as it is to territory where nature has encouraged settlement. Nothing on earth is entirely useless, even though use be restricted to an opportunity for brave adventure. There is a stage in progress—the stage in which the North American continent itself existed for most men not so many centuries ago.

Elasticity.

It is an established fact that the recovery program is putting men back to work. Although there can be no definite figures on reemployment for some time to come, reports are encouraging.

From Washington comes reports of concern over the effect of code compliance on small business concerns. Here again, national figures are not available, but conditions are described by local reports.

The recovery administration is informed of the fact that many small concerns are fighting with their backs to the wall to hold up what they have construed as a responsibility. Their plight constitutes what might well be considered the recovery administration's most serious problem at the moment.

The "wound stripe" NRA eagle designed for enterprises which are willing but unable to comply fully with the blanket code is not a satisfactory solution. Managers of small businesses are inclined to feel that its display is not an acceptable substitute for the regular symbol.

Because they are unorganized, they have no unified voice with which to describe their case to the recovery administration. They see the need for elasticity in administration of the program, but they are unable to describe cogently what they want and need.

Intimate knowledge of their own affairs makes it impossible for them to accept the theory that business recovery will take place in time to restore the solvency they have endangered by increasing their costs without assurance of greater income. No matter how strong their faith in the recovery indorsed by the administration may be, that faith falters in the cold presence of their bookkeeping figures.

If the recovery program is not to be wrecked by the inability of numerous small businesses to comply with it safely, there must be some manifestation of administrative leniency which will convince the minor capitalist that he has not been marked for sacrifice to a theory. His case is urgent. Failure to deal with it energetically and sympathetically might easily be the obstacle on which faith in the NRA will be shattered. Numerically, the small business man is a majority. He must have more consideration than he has received up to this time in the recovery drive.

Emergence.

Not the least important phase of the Cuban disturbance was the emergence of Senator Key Pittman of Nevada as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. To all intents and purposes, Senator Borah might still have been in that powerful position up to that time. Mr. Pittman, perhaps having nothing to say, had been amazingly conspicuous.

On his return from London, where he served as a member of the United States delegation to the economic conference, the senator was pressed for a statement on the Cuban situation. He replied with a frank show of willingness to the effect that this government's responsibility was clear. Either it had to observe the Platt amendment and send armed forces to Cuba, or disregard the amendment and turn Cuba over to foreign interests.

While this statement still was soaking into the amazed minds of many of his countrymen, Senator Pittman had an opportunity to witness another method of handling the problem—a method whose success is attributed to the administration he represents as foreign relations committee chairman. No soldiers were sent, but the situation was cleared up just the same.

Among those who witnessed the emergence of Mr. Pittman as an expert in foreign relations Senator Borah must be counted as one who enjoyed the spectacle. Mr. Borah, too, was given to talking out of turn.

Comment of the Press

AUTOMOBILE CROSSING BOORS.

The hit-and-run driver is a generally recognized threat to every one on the highways. The public has little consideration for him and is ready to take his number and co-operate with the police in bringing him to justice. The reckless driver, the drunken driver and some others whose conduct is likely to mean serious mishaps get little sympathy. There is another who is not looked upon as a menace so much as a pest and should be squelched. He is the driver who stops on the crossing reserved for pedestrians at street intersections.

Every driver knows he is supposed to come to a halt short of the sidewalk when he is held up by a red light or a traffic policeman. A surprisingly large number of automobilists give no thought to the rights of those afoot. They get just as far over the street line as they dare without running the risk of being hit by cars on the cross street in front of them. One might suppose from watching them that they are in urgent need of saving every foot of space and second of time in order to get somewhere in a hurry.

As a matter of fact, they are probably not nearly as much pressed for time as the pedestrian who is inconvenienced by their thoughtlessness. Theirs is the attitude of selfishness and lack of the rudiments of common decency. They feel that the pedestrian can wait or walk around. The fact that he has rights that are being ignored is no concern to them, so long as they are sure they will not get into trouble through their discourtesy. It is a waste of time, of course, to expect a large percentage of such offenders to reform. They should be made to regard the rights of others.—Indianapolis Star.

THE FIRST RESULTS.

The first tangible results from the NRA drive are apparent in news dispatches from Greenville, S. C., a city situated in the very heart of the cotton mill industry. Shopkeepers and merchants of the city report that the increased pay drawn by the textile workers immediately was thrown into purchases. The result was the biggest business in more than three years.

Some merchants reported that business had doubled itself, others that the upward trend of business was from 25 to 50 per cent. Most of the wage earners' cash went for actual necessities which many had been deprived of through unemployment and sweatshop rates of pay. Others found themselves able to spend money for luxuries.

But perhaps even more important than the cold figures which indicate the return of purchasing power is the psychology of the workers. Brisk repartee and a gay enthusiasm characterized the buyers, replacing the deadening stolidness of '31 and '32. They were confident as they bought, looking forward to better days rather than backward to a prosperity which had seemed definitely lost.

They had conquered fear.—Toledo Times.

Quinsy Sore Throat No Minor Ill.

If you have suffered from a quinsy sore throat you will agree with me that it is a painful and uncomfortable ailment.

Many confuse this affliction with ordinary sore throat or pharyngitis. But quinsy sore throat is not merely an inflammation or irritation of the throat. It is an abscess located in or nearby the tonsil tissue. It is usually traced to a chronically diseased tonsil which has become infected. With the infection the abscess forms and enlarges, causing the severe pain and high fever so familiar in this affliction.

Quinsy sore throat may follow a severe attack of tonsillitis, inflammation of the tonsils. As this subsides, the pain reappears and the abscess forms.

It affects one side and may recur on the same side at frequent intervals. As a rule the victim has a half dozen attacks or more. In recurring cases, prevention is possible only by the removal of the diseased tonsils.

Severe pain in the throat makes it impossible to swallow food and there is even greater difficulty in swallowing liquids. High fever, headache, weakness and general prostration, are other symptoms of this disorder. A common sign, often alarming to the afflicted person, is a throbbing, painful sensation in the ear of the affected side. This is pain "referred" from the diseased throat.

In severe cases of quinsy sore throat there may be pain in the knee or ankle. This is commonly called arthritis. It means that the poisons from the abscess are being absorbed and carried to different parts of the body. There is a real menace in this, especially if the heart or kidneys become involved. This danger can be prevented by immediate lancing of the abscess and removal of all the pus.

My advice to persons who frequently suffer from this affliction, is immediate removal of enlarged or diseased tonsils. If your tonsils are diseased or you think they may be, do not hesitate to consult with your physician.

Do not be misled by the common and false idea that quinsy sore throat must "run its own course" and will cure itself. Do not wait until the quinsy "breaks." Bear in mind that the poisons generated from the pus present in the abscess are detrimental to your health.

Please remember, too, that diseased tonsils are often the underlying cause of heart disease, kidney disease, arthritis, neuritis and neuralgia. In children diseased tonsils retard normal growth and development. Chorea, acute rheumatic fever, heart murmurs and other serious disturbances in children, can often be traced to neglect of infected tonsils.—Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

OLD OHIO ALMANACS.

The almanac has always formed a convenient and efficient medium for publicity in new portions of the country, before the coming of the newspaper and other products of the printing press. Benjamin Franklin's Poor Richard's Almanac became by reason of the wit and wisdom of its author not only a medium of publicity but a desirable compendium of information, and purveyor of knowledge useful in the household. It attained almost classical standing in its time.

In the early days of Ohio, a number of such publications became popular and wielded no little influence. Usually the projectors of the early almanacs had some special object they wished to promote. Nathan Guilford, an early educator in the state, whose ideas made no little impression upon the movement for free public schools, used such a publication to put over his plans. Published at Cincinnati as Solomon Thrifty's Almanac, it had wide circulation. Three other almanacs were published at Cincinnati at the opening of the last century—William McFarland's, Carney and Morgans' and that of John W. Browne, whose company also printed the Liberty Hall newspaper. The patent medicine almanacs came many years later.

UNDERSTANDING ADOLESCENCE.

There are times when understanding adolescence seems almost as impossible as understanding insanity.

It comes almost over night, the change from rational if irritating childhood to a condition of shifting identities. It is as if a host of doors were opened to a child after a long and straight corridor, and, instead of entering one and continuing along his way, he must try one after the other until he finds the right one.

We speak of him as going through phases, but we would probably be nearer the truth if we said he was trying on costumes. One will eventually suit him, but before he dons it he will try on a dozen grotesque misfits and strut about the world as a mirror to get the effect.

To the parents who have to endure the young posers these years are exasperating in the extreme, and they tend to scold or jeer unmercifully. If they could think back into their own youth and recall their own feelings during this period of change they would not be quite so cruel.

Never does a child need more sympathy and understanding than at this time when he is puzzled and worried by his inexplicable restlessness, his fits of depression, his emotional instability, which make him strange and unaccountable even to himself.

If he can be shown that he is not different from others, that his mental and spiritual variability are a normal accompaniment of a corresponding physical change which everyone has to experience, his loneliness will be lessened.

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

JAMES COUZENS

Washington, Aug. 15—Action of Senator Couzens of Michigan in coming forward voluntarily and paying in full assessments against stocks held in his wife's name in Detroit's two closed national banks has revived speculation in Washington as to what the future holds for the white-haired outspoken Michigander.

The senator's name has been mentioned as a possible successor to William H. Woodin should the secretary of the treasury resign from the Roosevelt cabinet.

He already has been the recipient of an important appointment at the hands of the President. When he left for London as a delegate to the economic conference, he did so with some misgivings.

He was almost convinced that he would return as a confirmed isolationist. Actually, his impression of the work done at London, revealed as the conference closed, did not bear out his prediction.

Observers detected in his statement, reviewing the work of the conference, marked similarity with the conclusions of Roosevelt himself.

"While I am disappointed at the outcome of the conference," he said, "I am not willing to admit that it was a total failure."

Many Washington observers would find it difficult to imagine Couzens in the cabinet with the portfolio of secretary of the treasury. And it's because of the personality of the man.

The senator is as fiery, outspoken and independent in thought as any man in public life today. He always has refused to stay in line for party or any other reason. And there's no indication that he would change his ways were he to become a member of the President's official family.

"Team work" plays a large part in Mr. Roosevelt's conception of the duties of the members of his administration.

As for Secretary Woodin the situation apparently remains unchanged. Reports still persist that his resignation will be in the hands of the President before very long. But these reports are met by denials. The secretary's recent illness, which has kept him from his post for many weeks, has tended to increase speculation.

It has been said often that Woodin reluctantly accepted the treasury post in the first place. It is also known that the President is deeply attached to him.

The work that he did during the turbulent first days of the administration when frantic efforts were being made to save the nation's banking structure apparently won for him a lasting place in the President's esteem.

Sketches from Ohio's Past

BY DENNIS B. SMITH

TECUMSEH, GREATEST INDIAN CHIEF, BORN IN OHIO

Last and probably greatest of all Ohio Indian war chiefs, Tecumseh lived and died the bitter enemy of the white man, but his name has been honored by Americans far beyond most of those Indians who accepted the whites and lived in peace with them. He was a statesman, a military genius, an impelling orator and even a humanitarian in his savage way, but beyond all this he was a red warrior of marvelous skill and daring.

He was a Shawnee, born in 1768 in the old Indian town of Piqua near the present Springfield. When he was 12 years old the town was burned by a roving band of white adventurers and frontiersmen and from then until he met a warrior's death, Tecumseh was the foe of the white.

Although terrible in battle, Tecumseh vowed when he saw the torture of captives while he was but a boy that he would never abuse a prisoner and he kept the vow, risking his own life on several occasions to save prisoners from the stake.

From boyhood he was a successful leader of the Indians in many battles. When other chiefs signed treaties, Tecumseh toured the country from Canada to Florida and from the Atlantic to the Mississippi endeavoring to unite all the Indians in a confederacy against the whites.

When the war of 1812 began, the British offered the Indians restoration of their hunting grounds in return for their services. Tecumseh organized an army of 3,000 warriors, the greatest force of Indians ever assembled for battle. He was commissioned a brigadier general in the British army.

Inexperience and cowardice of his British allies thwarted his plans and the combined British-Indain army retired into Canada pursued by the Americans. At the Thames river in Ontario, Tecumseh refused to retreat farther and prepared for battle. The English troops fled at the first attack. New York Day by Day

O. O. McIntyre

New York, Aug 15—Jules Glazener is listed in the phone book merely with the initials v. p. following. What he is vice president of a jewelry establishment and a super salesman, he is New York's best known social butterfly flitting to and hovering about whenever smart crowds gather.

So uncanny is his sudden presence whenever a wealthy celebrity arrives that Douglas Fairbanks once exclaimed "He must have come out of the wood-work." A dapper fellow of dandyfied dress with a middle hair part, he looks in his early 30s, but is reputed more than 50.

He gives false impression of fussiness whereas he is in truth a fellow of very sturdy sense. A frequent thrower of celebrity parties he is always involved in an affectation of pugnacity. He is the town's most accomplished shusher, curvetting about with finger to lips in a hectoring manner toward guests.

Because he is always flying from himself into a pose, people, like him much or dislike him thoroughly. It may be added he doesn't care a hoot for personal reactions. Buzzing from New York to Paris, Palm Beach and back, he manages to be successful. And that's to him the berries.

Reformed and Epworth in No. 2 Loop Deadlock

Both Cop Final Start Former Beating St. Paul, 4-3, Methodists Romping Over U. B., 18-0.

The First Presbyterians wrapped up the championship of the No. 1 Sunday school league for the second consecutive season yesterday trampling over the Trinity Baptist nine by a 9-0 score as they vaulted into the champion's seat. While the Presbies were cinching the No. 1 crown, the Epworth Seniors and First Reformed were both marking up triumphs to finish the No. 2 league race in a deadlock and force a play-off for the championship.

Five pitchers paraded to the hill as Trinity Baptist made a futile attempt to head off the Presbyterians' championship rush. Don Shoemaker hurled the entire route for the winners and did a nice job, setting the losers down with six hits and never getting himself in any difficulty.

Presbies Start Early

The Presbies started the scoring in the first frame when Gabby Galland doubled and drove two runs home. That pair would have been plenty but the Presbies continued the assault until nine were across the plate. Francis Bacon drove out the longest home run of the season in the third frame with one man aboard. It rolled to the fence in dead center of the Lincoln park diamond.

Kimball started on the hill for the Baptist and lasted until Bacon smacked his circuit clout. Jones took his place, followed in order Kenneth Somerlot, Starling Somerlot and "Doc" Wainfor. The Presbies collected only nine hits off the lot but most of the hits were for extra bases and the Baptists tossed in several errors to help boost the score.

It took a home run in the last half of the seventh inning for First Reformed to squeeze out a 4-3 victory over the St. Paul Lutherans but the Epworth Seniors rolled up one of the biggest scores of the season in downing the United Brethren, 18-0. Pete Howison hit the home run for Reformed with the score tied at 3-all and two out in the seventh.

Reformed ran into all kinds of difficulty against St. Paul. The Windsor street team raked Dale Schwaderer for 10 hits, the highest total collected off him in one game this year while Pine was limiting Reformed to six safeties. Of the six, Howison collected three. Fritz Walters started the scoring by clouting a home run in the third for St. Paul and Freddie Webber duplicated it for Reformed in the last half of the same inning to knot the count at 1-all. Reformed scored twice more in the fourth but St. Paul came back with three hits in the seventh to tie it up again at 3-all. Howison then proceeded to break up the game with his circuit wallop.

Seniors Win Easily

The Epworth Seniors rolled up an 18-0 triumph over the United Brethren.

The Methodists crashed hits all over the lot as they rolled up their huge score and had no difficulty in holding the losers scoreless.

The Birds today had a lead of 17 games over the Millers.

GASCO TO PLAY AT MANSFIELD TONIGHT

Marion Club Scheduled for Inter-City Nocturnal Clash.

Manager Ray Anthony will take his Gasco club softball team to Mansfield tonight for an inter-city diamond battle with the Mansfield Gasco club. The Mansfield club captured the championship of the Mansfield Industrial league and challenged the Marion club to a game.

Dale Schwaderer, ace twirler for the Gasco club is not expected to appear on the hill tonight, Anthony preferring to save him for Industrial league games here later this week. Instead, the pitching duties will probably be intrusted to Clarence Primmer, rookie right hander. Primmer was recruited from The Star team, also of the Industrial league. Anthony has not named his starting pitcher, but it is likely that Primmer will get the call. Don Shoemaker, Erie Traffic club pitcher and Freddie Vestel, who toils for the Serv-U-Wel Grocers will also be taken along and may see service. The rest of the Gasco lineup will be the same as competes here.

The game will be played under the lights of Blue Goose field and will start about 8:30.

Craver Winner in "Moonlight" Links Contest

The first "moonlight" golf tournament of the season was staged last night at the Mar-O-Del golf club in conjunction with the men's club championship tourney. The "moonlight" affair was not a scheduled attraction coming solely because Jerry Selanders put on startling display of "How Golf Should Be Played" in the last few holes of his tournament match with Bob Craver.

Selanders and Craver were playing in the first round of the championship tournament and with four holes to go Craver had a three-hole lead. Selanders calmly proceeded to square the match by taking the next three. The 18th was halved and the match ended even.

The course was already too dark to play without some kind of illumination so a number of automobiles were pressed into service and lined up along the fairway. Craver and Selanders played the nineteenth hole with the aid of these lights. Craver took the hole and the match. The hole is a par four. Craver took a four, Selanders a five.

DOZEN STARTERS IN HAMBLETONIAN RACE

Mary Reynolds Likely To Go To Post As A Slight Favorite.

By The Associated Press

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 15—A dozen or more of the country's fleetest three-year-old trotters will match strides tomorrow for the richest of harness racing purses, the $50,000 Hambletonian.

At "Good Time" park, where the Hambletonian will be trotted at 2 p. m. (Marion time) over the half-mile route, trainers sent their charges through final workouts today.

The colts and fillies which will face starter Steve Phillips for the first of three-out-of-five mile heats, are the survivors of an original field of 40. All have shown their worth in preliminary races over the "roarin grand."

Mary Reynolds, owned by W. N. Reynolds of Winston Salem, N. C., is expected to start a lukewarm choice.

Brown Berry, a son of the great Peter Volo from J. I. Lyle's stable of Plainfield, N. J., stepped into the front rank contenders as a result of his triumph in the American stakes at Rockingham park, defeating, among others, Mary Reynolds.

Spencer McElwyn, owned by Henry Knight of Chicago, King Ben from William H. Cane's Good Time stable, Atlantic Volo, owned by I. O. Blake of New York City, and Hollywood Portia are expected to furnish formidable opposition.

FOXX BREAKS RECORD BY DRIVING IN NINE RUNS AGAINST TRIBE

A's Star First Baseman Hits Home Run, Triple Double and Single.

By The Associated Press

There's a new brilliant star shining today in the bonnet of pink-cheeked Jimmie Foxx, a new American league record of nine runs batted in, in one game added to the walloping achievements of the new king of baseball's sluggers.

As the old dynasty of Babe Ruth fades slowly, halting only for occasional outbursts, Foxx, the easy going farmer boy from Maryland steadily rises.

He hasn't the flair of Ruth, this 26-year-old barrel chested horsehide buster Home Run Baker coaxed from the hind end of a plow and shipped to Connie Mack nine years ago as part payment on the debt of gratitude he felt toward the ancient pilot.

Indians Trounced

In none of the Babe's 20 years of big league play has he loosed more devastation at the plate than Foxx unleashed yesterday as the Athletics slaughered Johnson's Cleveland Indians 11 to 5.

In the first inning Jimmie tripled with two on. In the second he hit his 35th home run of the season with the bases loaded. A double in the fourth chased home another. A single scored two more in the sixth. And to add the perfect Ruthian touch, Jimmie fanned magnificently in his final try in the ninth.

The nine runs he drove across the plate broke the record of eight set by Topsy Hartzell of the Yankees, in 1911, and tied since by Harry Heilman, Lou Gehrig, Carl Reynolds and Earl Averill. He fell three shy of equalling the major league record set by Jim Bottomley of the Cards with an even dozen in 1924.

Going Good Now

Rallying from an ordinary start this season due to a spiked shin in the spring which healed slowly, Foxx' one man field day boosted his average to .362 for a neat lead over his old room mate, Al Simmons, his foremost hitting rival around the circuit. And again it focused the spotlight on the sale of Simmons, Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas for $100,000 last fall.

Aside from the glamor of Foxx' achievement, the day in the majors was a typical blue Monday with Detroit beating Boston 6 to 5, in the only other game played. The National league's lone match between the Phillies and Giants was rained out.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—What is meant by properly dressing a salad?

ANSWER—Salad dressings as well as salad materials can and should be varied There are three main types—French, mayonnaise and cooked In addition to these, there are some very good old-time combination of sweet or sour cream, vinegar and seasonings, recommended for cabbage or cucumbers.

French dressings are especially suitable for the green and lighter "appetizer" or formal meal salads, it is also quite suitable for fruit salads Mayonnaise or cooked dressings go with the more substantial salads such as meat and vegetables salads and the fruit salad used as dessert. Mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing is also used with the salad when it is served as the main dish of the meal This salad may be plain or jellied or frozen

A wafer or thin sandwiches of white, brown, nut or date bread may be served with the salad.

He smiled wryly thought of the appearance sented, as he mounted the the veranda and plied the knocker on the front maine herself opened the and stared for an instant in ment, then burst into a merry laughter—which she as sud checked.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" she exclaimed contritely. "But you do look a sight! What on earth has happened to you?"

"Is anyone about?" he asked.

"No," she assured him, "not a soul—except Antoinette and Jacques, but they're at the back of the house. So come in."

"Not like this," he said. "I couldn't sit down without ruining the furniture,you know! I have just come from Bouchard's shack."

"Bouchard!" Her hand reached out impulsively—and soiled itself hopelessly on his muddy sleeve.

"Too bad," he said remorsefully. "Now see what I have done!"

"What does it matter?" Her voice was all anxiety now. "Something has happened. What is it? Tell me!"

"Beastly clumsy of me," he explained. "I missed my footing on the way back, and took a nose dive into the marsh. Bouchard is in the other camp. I came to ask you to lend me your boat."

"Tell me!" she insisted.

"Of course!" said Colin. "I was going to anyway. You remember those two fellows who landed from the Belle Fleur this afternoon?"

"Yes."

"Well, their room is next to mine at the hotel and I heard them talking in there this evening. They belong to a bootlegging outfit, or worse, that is captained by a man named Dollaire. This Dollaire has found out that the club is a camouflage for a bunch of crooks engaged in some profitable racket, and he sees no reason why he shouldn't muscle in and help himself to the profits! And tonight is the night.

"When I went out there just now to see Bouchard, I found those two men with him. Bouchard is the man they shot at and were looking for at the club yesterday. In short, Bouchard is Dollaire's spy."

"OH!" she said tensely. "Yes—go on!"

"I overheard enough to know that in another hour or so Dollaire will be off the cape with a schooner. He will pick up these men here, get Bouchard's report—and then the club. I can't afford to let anything happen to Lazarre, as you know. He must be warned, and there is only one way—by boat. So may I have yours?"

"You may," she said promptly, "and what is more, I'll run it for you. I suppose we should start at once, shouldn't we?"

For a moment Colin stared at her blankly, then his jaws clamped. Germaine at the club—tonight! She did not realize, of course, what it might mean.

"That's very good of you, but you don't start at all," he said firmly. "This is a one-man job."

"I don't see why," she pouted. "I was dragged in by the hair of the head, you know, yesterday, the way you said it always happened in your stories, so why can't I be again? I'd love to be a heorine."

"But that would mean," he challenged, "that you would have to fall in love with the hero—and the hero with you."

"Not at all!" she retorted serenely. "Don't you think it would be something at last really original in a story—if they didn't."

"Well, that's an idea, of course," he admitted with a smile; then seriously: "But this isn't a story I'm writing, and so far as you are concerned you are henceforth definitely out of it. Quite apart from what might happen down there tonight, if you were ever suspected, they wouldn't have any more mercy on you than they had on"—he checked himself—"would have on anybody else. This is my job, and tonight particularly, as I told you, it is a one-man job.

"I am not going to drag anybody else into this—and least of all you. Bouchard would have been along in the capacity of a mercenary, as it were, and his blood would have been on his own head. As it is now, all I've got to do is sit and smoke and steer a boat, and—well, you understand—"

"It would seem then, that I am not to go," she observed.

"It would," he returned grimly.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

s Arlen, Apparently Reconciled to Defeat, Pays Her espects to the Bride and room.

WED Mary's eyes at her ered injunction of "Look!" myself sharing her evident I saw Avis Arlen entering the room and apparently advancing toward us. There was no one except her mother with her as she came through the door, and I wondered wildly where Harry and Lillian could be.

They had promised me not to be a foot away from Avis until Mary and Noel were married, and had departed upon their honeymoon. What had kept them, I asked myself resentfully, then drew a quick breath of contrite relief as I saw Lillian come through the door, followed by her big husband. They came up to Mrs. Arlen and her daughter, and put some casual query which delayed the progress of the two toward us.

"Better hurry over to your places at the buffet table," I counselled in a whisper, "and be ready to cut the cake. I'll tell Katie to have the waitresses start serving at once, and I'll have Mrs. Underwood take my place at the coffee urn, while I keep Avis from getting near you."

"Don't do that!" Mary said. Then as my eyes widened in surprise, she laughed softly and put her hand playfully yet with a certain sweet possessiveness, upon Noel's arm.

"I've got him fast now," she said with dancing eyes. "And I'm not going to give my new papa-in-law a chance to say I didn't do right by his Nell. Noel, this is the first command I'm giving you. Didn't the preacher make you promise to obey?" What a shame, I missed that bet! Anyway, you'll do it this time. You toddle along after me, and do just what I do. Pipe your little Mary, Auntie Madge. Is my train straight?"

She put her hands up to her cap veil, gave it a pat, and then, as I stooped and arranged her train, she whispered mischievously, "Cheerio!" When I released her, she moved swiftly toward the little group of which Avis was a center.

A "Judas Kiss"?

"Auntie Madge has just told me you are not feeling well," she said solicitously. "I am so sorry! Are you sure you are all right now?"

Her manner was perfection, and I saw Avis rally to it with the almost mechanical social habit in which she had been reared. She would not let Mary "put anything over on her" in sweetness or social graces. I saw that, and drew the first free breath I had taken for hours.

"Oh, yes; perfectly all right," Avis cooed. "Thank you so much for being so concerned. I really wasn't ill; only a bit dizzy. I am only sorry that I haven't had the opportunity before now to proffer you my very best wishes for your lifelong happiness."

She extended her hand, and for a fraction of a second I feared that she meant to give Mary what anybody who knew the girl would have dubbed a "Judas kiss." But she was too versed in social nuances to commit that solecism, and when Mary had grasped her hand and released it, Avis turned to Noel and put out her hand to him.

"I do indeed congratulate you, Noel," she siad, her eyes opened wide and fixed upon his face. "And I wish you all happiness."

Noel Plays a Part

I watched Noel narrowly. He did not possess that social hypocrisy which comes so naturally to all women but to few men, and I feared that, in Dicky's slangy parlance, he would "spill the lentils" by betraying to the bystanders something of the disgust which he had evinced toward the girl the preceding evening.

But Noel reacted to her advance far better than I hoped. With just the right amount of formal courtesy for a chance acquaintance, he took her hand and bowed above it with the touch of old world grace which is his inheritance from his father. But I guessed that it was he, not Avis, who broke the handclasp.

"Thank you for both the congratulations and the good wish," he said. "And I am very glad to know you are feeling better."

"We are all glad," I put in briskly. "But I can see Katie peering anxiously through the door. That means that the wedding supper is ready for serving. Noel, will you take Mary up to the serving table? The rest will follow your lead."

Purposely I had broken through the tradition that in a "formal" wedding, the keynote of which was Mary's wedding veil, there should be a formal seated supper, with all the traditions of precedence carefully observed. She had longed for a wedding gown and veil, and I had keyed her wedding, small as it was, to that note with this one exception. But, because I wished to aid Mary and Noel in their plan to get away from the hazing always planned for newly married couples, and because I was uncertain as to what Avis Arlen would do at any given minute, I was giving a buffet supper, from which any one could slip away at any time.

Noel offered Mary his arm with alacrity and they walked toward the laden buffet table, upon which towered the wedding cake. They had hardly left me when Philip Veritzen bowed low before me, and then proffered his arm.

"May I escort you to the coffee urn?" he said. "I believe that is your destination."

But with a sudden thrill of intuition, I knew that was not all he wished to say to me.

Goodbye ANTS

PETERMAN'S ANT [illegible]

WHY NOT GET THE MOST safety mileage value FOR YOUR MONEY?

THE price of all tires is about alike—so the wise thing to do is to look over the field and get the most for your money.

You'll find out this: At the price you pay for any other tire, you can get more safety from skidding — more safety from blowouts — more mileage—more value in Goodyear Tires.

More traction – by 10 to 77%

You'll hear a lot of talk about non-skid safety. What are the facts? Goodyear made some accurate tests to settle the question.

Result? On wet concrete the second-best tire skidded 10% farther than Goodyears—and the worst one skidded 77% farther. In other words, Goodyear Tires stop your car quicker than any other tire. If you don't use Goodyears, there is one sure quick test by which you can prove to your own satisfaction and safety what a real non-skid tire is. Get into a car on Goodyears, drive out over wet, slippery pavements, and note how Goodyears grip and hold. You'll get plenty of proof.

Safety from Blowouts in Every Ply

One of the commonest causes of blowouts is ply-failure inside the tire. When any ply breaks down, it weakens the others.

So Goodyear Tires give you the safety of Supertwist Cord — not in a single ply — not only in two or three — but in every ply of every Goodyear Tire. And every ply goes from bead to bead. Let us test an ordinary tire cord alongside Goodyear Supertwist Cord on our testing machine. Stretched alike, and then released, the ordinary cord will loosen and sag — but the Goodyear Supertwist Cord will recover and come back time after time.

That's what happens in the flexing action of your tires as they roll—stretch and recover, stretch and recover. With their every ply extra-elastic Supertwist Cord, Goodyear Tires stand up longer and carry you with greater safety.

Accurate records show Goodyears give 97% more mileage than five years ago

This figure is straight from the records of the largest bus fleets in America—fleets that travel millions of tire miles per year. And the same improvements which made these records possible are now built in the tires for your car. That's the surest proof of the value Goodyears offer you today.

Look at the prices and buy now

Cotton's up 100%. Rubber's up 100%. But most Goodyear prices are still below the level of last fall. Look them over and see how little it still costs for the world's first-choice tire. Then you'll certainly know it pays to come in and get them now.

DRUGS AND SUNDRIES

BLOOD turns to water and nerves start to wither away. The Brain functions in a retarded manner, the complexion takes on an unnatural hue. These above symptoms are some of the hideous symptoms of Pernecious Aenemia. If unchecked its demoralizing effect on a person is ghastly. While there are several kinds of Aenemia that are not so apprehensive, there is no positive or permanent cure yet found for the Pernecious kind. DIAMOND BLOOD CAPSULES (Lower's) we recommend as one of the surest of all Blood products sold to tone the blood to Normal. Recommended and sold by Lower's Pharmacy, Center and Leader Sts.

FARMERS: We appreciate your business and earnestly solicit it. Here your wants are taken care of eagerly and speedily. For any stock remedies, home remedies, etc., be sure to see Weimer's Drug Store, between railroads on N. Main.

ARE you permitting your nerves to be burnt up with NEURITIS or RHEUMATISM? Nerves when completely damaged can never be cured.

WHY not now. Investigate in your neighborhood the satisfied users of LOWER'S NEURITIS PRESCRIPTION. Each and every customer of this remedy will gladly recommend it to you.

WHITENED SEPULCHERS can be compared to many ones today. AUTO intoxication (self-poisoning) one of the most horrible forms of INWARD REEKING uncleanliness—human filth EFLUVIA becomes absorbed — then eyes become misty (don't see good) hearing is dulled — limbs begin to stiffen, gait unsteady. You can begin to count only a few years of life ahead—shortened by PARALYSIS, APOPLEXY, heart or kidney failure. There is hope in HEPATIC TRITICUM (Lower's). People come hundreds of miles to purchase this remedy. Sold only by Lower's Pharmacy, Center and Leader.

STOCK SHARES MOVE SLOWLY

Securities Markets Cautious as Grain Situation Clouds Speculative Horizon.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 — Security markets stepped carefully today as the grain price situation and firming dollar rates tended to cloud the speculative and investment horizons.

Stocks and bonds milled about in unusually dull trading, with the ticker tape silent at frequent intervals and most board rooms all but deserted. Grains at Chicago were unchanged at their minimum levels, and only a few scattered trades were made at the restricted quotations. Wheat recovered at Winnipeg after the authorities there "pegged" the selling figures. The dollar again moved up substantially in foreign exchange dealings. Cotton and other commodities were uncertain.

The majority of leading shares moved diffidently. Homestake Mining dropped 6 points, and declines of fractions to around a point were registered by National Distillers, Alaska Juneau, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical and Owens-Illinois. Chrysler, International Nickel, Dupont and General Motors were up slightly. Many others were unchanged.

GRAIN TRADING AT STANDSTILL

Market Awaits Removal of Restrictions Tonight; Winnipeg "Pegs" Minimum.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 15—With minimum pegged prices on Chicago grain futures scheduled to be abolished tonight, trading was virtually at a standstill.

Belief prevailed that there might be irregularity in the markets for several days. This was expected to be followed by a return of normal conditions of trading.

The Winnipeg market opened a half hour late today as directors met to establish "pegged" minimum trading prices there. The market then jumped wildly up four cents, but later three cents of the gain was lost.

All grains and provisions closed at nominally the same as yesterday's finish in Chicago.
